
Events

Published 19 January 2026

Our lands sing on

Two sound artists create space for listening at Forplay Society this January. The evening moves through field recordings, live sound, and conversations.

This has finished · 20 January 2026

In this page

Dates 20 January 2026
Times 8:30–9:30 PM

Where

Forplay Society
Art gallery · Opposite Kaycee Corporation, Bazaar Road, Mattancherry

Drawn from OpenStreetMap, by its contributors.

> What if the land could speak? At Forplay Society this January, two sound artists are creating space for exactly that kind of listening.

About the artists

Artists: Murthovic and Gopika (Nadabramha Studio)

Medium: Sound art, field recordings, live performance, collaborative listening

“Our Lands Sing On” is a sensory, listening-led gathering. It moves through field recordings, live sound, and conversations. Murthovic and Gopika from Nadabramha Studio guide participants through an evening.

In that evening, hearing becomes a practice. It is not passive. It is active and shared.

Articultural Society and TALES Kollektiv present this event. They are working with Forplay Society and SAVVY Contemporary. It is part of a growing movement. The movement looks at how we relate to place through sound.

Places in this story 1

Mattancherry