

TOURIST DESTINATION

Mattancherry

Where spice trading, religious migration and old warehouses still meet.

ADDRESS

ABOUT

Mattancherry is a historic ward of Kochi, and it lies just south of Fort Kochi. It holds the lanes known as Jew Town and sits about 9 km south-west of the city centre. A Water Metro station on Jew Town Road connects it to High Court Terminal, on the line that runs through Willingdon Island. Jew Street is known for its spice trade, handicrafts and antique shops. The shops show vintage photographs, Chinese urns, door frames, and glass and ceramic goods, and colonial-era buildings line the street.

Map data © OpenStreetMap contributors.