Making something with your hands that you can wear the same evening is satisfying. This Saturday, you can do exactly that at a macrame workshop in Mattancherry.

WISHIVV Handmade Creations is running a 3-hour session at Artiko Tales Art Studio on Bazaar Road. The workshop covers foundation knots and a simple pattern. By the end of it, you walk out with a finished handmade piece.

Macrame basics

Macrame is a knotting technique that uses cord or string instead of needles or hooks. It needs only your hands, cord and some patience. The craft has roots going back centuries. It has seen a big comeback lately, with people making everything from wall hangings and plant holders to jewellery and bags.

The word “macramé” is derived from the 13th-century Arabic word migramah (مقرمة), meaning “fringe” or “embroidered veil.” Arab weavers used decorative knots to finish the edges of hand-loomed fabrics, such as towels, shawls, and veils. Beyond aesthetics, these knots helped secure the loose threads at the ends of a woven piece to prevent fraying.

This beginner friendly workshop focuses on the basics, which are foundation knots and a simple pattern.

Details

The venue is Artiko Tales Art Studio on Bazar Road in Mattancherry, opposite Holy Cross Church. Contact +91 8089020027 on phone or WhatsApp.

If you know Mattancherry’s Bazar Road, you know Holy Cross Church. The studio is right opposite. For those coming from Fort Kochi, it is a short auto ride across the canal bridge. Or it is about 15 minutes on foot if you enjoy the walk past spice markets.

About Artiko Tales

Artiko Tales hosts workshops. It also runs weekend art classes for kids every Saturday and Sunday. Their studio features an art material shop, an exhibition hall with a gallery space, and a selection of their own products for sale.

Artiko also conducts external workshops. They offer live portraits and commissioned paintings at a per-piece rate. You can rent their workspace and workshop areas for your own events or creative work.

Why go

If you have been meaning to try a hands-on craft but have not gotten around to it, this is a low-pressure way to start. Beginners are welcome. Macrame is one of those crafts where the learning curve is gentle. The basic knots are simple and the patterns build from them.
